Question 1-5:

Federal Reserve Chairman Ben Bernanke recently ruled out a central bank _____ 1 _____ of state and local governments strapped with big municipal debt burdens, saying the Fed had limited legal _____ 2 _____ to help and little will to use that power. "We have no expectation or intention to get involved in state and local finance," Mr. Bernanke said in _____ 3 _____ before the Senate Budget Committee. The states, he said later, "should not expect _____ 4 _____ from the Fed."

The $2.9 trillion municipal-bond market has been stung recently by worries that some cash-strapped cities or states won't be able to pay off or roll over debt. Costs have risen broadly for municipal borrowers. The market also faces challenges from the expiration of the Build America Bonds program, which helped cities and states borrow $165 billion at interest rates held down by federal _____ 5 _____.

Question 16-20:

Duke Energy Corp. is close to a deal to buy Progress Energy Inc. in an all-stock _____ 16 _____ that would value its smaller rival at more than $13 billion, joining forces to save on costs and seek cheaper sources of energy as utility companies embark on a consolidation spree. On a state level, the transaction technically only needs regulatory _____ 17 _____ from North and South Carolina. That makes deal closure more certain than other utility deals that often fall through because they have to get regulatory clearances from multiple state governments, in addition to _____ 18 _____ clearance.

Headquartered in Raleigh, North Carolina, Progress has more than 22,000 megawatts of power generation capacity with $10 billion in annual _____ 19 _____. The company has two electric utilities that serve over 3 million customers in Florida and the Carolinas. Duke Energy, with a market cap of $23.6 billion, provides gas and electricity services to customers in the Carolinas as well as Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky. The deal would _____ 20 _____ significant cost savings for the two companies.

Question 26-30:

The Social Network is a 2010 drama film about the founding of the social networking website Facebook and the resulting lawsuits. On a fall night in 2003, Harvard undergrad and computer programming genius Mark Zuckerberg sits down at his computer and heatedly begins working on a new idea. In a fury of blogging and programming, what begins in his dorm room soon becomes a global social network and a revolution in _____ 26 _____. A mere six years and 500 million friends later, Mark Zuckerberg is the youngest billionaire in history, but for this _____ 27 _____, success leads to both personal and legal complications.

The framing device throughout the film shows Mark testifying in _____ 28 _____ in two lawsuits: one filed by the Winklevoss twins, and the other filed by Eduardo Saverin, Mark's best friend over years. In the final scene, Marilyn Delpy, a junior lawyer for the defense informs Mark they will be _____ 29 _____ Eduardo, since the sordid details of Facebook's founding and Mark's personality will make a jury highly unsympathetic. The film ends with Mark sending a friend request to his former girlfriend Erica on Facebook, and refreshing the page every few seconds waiting for a _____ 30 _____.

Question 31-35:

Why is the world producing so much garbage? Garbage is an unavoidable result of consumption. And to _____ 31 _____ the high standard of living that has been reached in many industrialized countries, we must continue to consume, as the consumption keeps the wheel of industry turning. We use the rapidly disappearing natural resources of the earth to feed the machines of industry, which _____ 32 _____ produce endless quantities of consumer goods. What we haven't been able to do, however, is to find a successful way to _____ 33 _____ all the by-products of industry and the products themselves when they are used up, worn out, or _____ 34 _____.

One of the biggest causes of the garbage problem is the world's exploding population. More and more people means more and more waste. Before the industrial revolution, when the world population was very small, the problem of garbage did not exist. Whatever waste was produced then could be absorbed by the earth without _____ 35 _____ nature's balance, but nature can no longer cope with the amount of garbage that is currently being produced.

American International Group Inc. (美國國際集團), which is trying to end a long-running case over alleged under-reporting of premiums on workers' compensation policies, has agreed in principle to pay $450 million to settle litigation with rival insurance companies. The proposed settlement relates to a civil lawsuit filed against AIG in mid-2009 by two firms, Safeco Insurance Co. of America (美國 Safeco 保險公司) and Ohio Casualty Insurance Co. (俄亥俄意外事故保險公司) on behalf of a group of insurance companies. The two companies, whose ultimate parent is Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. (自由共同保險公司), had sought class-action status for the case and oppose the settlement.
