The Metro Business Times will host its 60th-annual Ten Fastest-Growing Company Awards on December 21st at the Grand Hotel Ballroom. The awards honor the ten fastest-growing private companies in the city based on five years of revenue growth. This year more than seventy companies applied for the distinctive awards. Companies interested had to submit financial statements for the previous five years. The accounting firm of Parris certified the results.

Emceeding the ceremony will be PTU-TV news anchor Jessica Brown. Also speaking will be Mountain View Chamber of Commerce President Howard Brinkley and Mountain View College's business school dean, Shirley Taylor. Top executives from participating companies will be in attendance at the ceremony, as will executives from around the country.

Be sure to attend for the chance to network with top business heads, make new contacts, and make your business known. The $500 ticket price includes dinner and an open bar. To register, call 845-313-4787. Additionally, sponsorships for the event are still available for $2500. Sponsors are given a booth to showcase their business and an opportunity to speak briefly at the ceremony.

Some students like classes where teachers lecture and do all of the talking in class. Other students prefer learner-centered classes where they need to do some of the talking such as making presentations, joining group discussions, and performing role-playing. Write a 3-paragraph essay including an introduction, a body, and a conclusion to state your preference, specific reasons, and details to support your choice of what type of class you prefer.
