English Composition Exam

Choose only one of the following topics and do not forget to provide a title:

1. In the past weeks, one piece of news stimulates Taiwan's political commentators. The Philippines arrested some suspected Taiwanese fraudsters and decided to extradite them to mainland China. According to the Philippines, "As an extradition treaty exists between the PRC and the Philippines - but none between the Philippines and Taiwan - Manila presumably sought to seize the opportunity to curry favor with Beijing" (Asia Times, Feb 15, 2011). What would you comment on this piece of news? Take into account the various views on this subject as you present your own. Support your views with examples to clarify your arguments. Be sure your first paragraph clearly states what you are proposing and/or refuting. Subsequent paragraphs and arguments must flow from your thesis topic as stated in first paragraph. A concluding paragraph should indeed draw conclusions based only on the examples and theories you have previously presented.
2. During the 2011 Chinese New Year holidays, a piece of news that aroused Taiwanese public's attention is Chinese tycoon and philanthropist Chen Guangbiao (陳光標) decided to throw money around during his trip to Taiwan. However, according to Taipei Times (Feb 02, 2011 by Lin Cho-shui), "the pan-green and pan-blue camps disapprove of Chen's action and a Yahoo online poll found that 43.3 percent of respondents disliked him, while 20 percent thought he was going too far. This is probably the first time in a history that philanthropic work has caused such a strong reaction." As a matter of fact, Taiwanese have a reputation when it comes to charity donations, such as Tzu Chi Foundation or the Red Cross. What's your comments on this issue? Reflect a moment on how you will organize your thoughts. Take into account the various views on this subject as you present your own. Support your views with examples to clarify your arguments. Be sure your first paragraph clearly states what you are proposing and/or refuting. Subsequent paragraphs and arguments must flow from your thesis topic as stated in first paragraph. A concluding paragraph should indeed draw conclusions based only on the examples and theories you have previously presented.

3. In January 2011, Council of Agriculture (COA) (農委會) has promoted Taiwan's high-quality agricultural products both in the local and international markets in order to upgrade the Taiwan agricultural industry's competitiveness. According to Council of Agriculture Minister Chen Wu-hsiung, eating products produced in Taiwan is a way "to protect the health of consumers" because all products have been featuring "Taiwan's CAS-labeled, toxic-free fruits, vegetables, as well as flowers and wines." While the COA has advocated Taiwanese people to eat locally grown food and support local industry, the international food exhibitions are all around the major cities in Taiwan. Do you see any controversies or contradictories? Be sure your first paragraph clearly states your objective or purpose in writing. Use examples and/or the views of public figures or scholars to support your arguments. Be sure your conclusion stems from your arguments.
